

Pursue an
AFRICAN & AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES MINOR
at Averett University

“It is impossible to understand American life, or modernity itself, without a deep engagement with African American history, music, literature, institutions, folklore, and political movements.”

—Scott McLemee

Intellectual Affairs columnist for Inside Higher Ed

Requirements: 18 semester hours (1 core class + 5 electives at designated levels) in any discipline that meets the content-specific nature of the program; previously completed courses that meet the criteria could count towards the minor. An interdisciplinary minor in African & African American Studies calls upon the strengths of our faculty and the interests of our students.
